

Presented by Marco
Petrucelli

THE SCATOLOGICAL

SONATA

A chaotic one-screen arcade survival game where Mozart fights off a filthy musical catastrophe

Why this game fits the market

The Scatological Sonata combines a readable survival loop with an absurd premise, making it well suited for short-session web platforms such as itch.io or Poki.

Instant Play
Replayable
Humorous Hook
Web Friendly

THE SOLUTION: THE SCATOLOGICAL SONATA

The Scatological Sonata is a browser arcade survival game where the player controls Mozart and fights off waves of living poop using musical projectiles.

Core strengths

- one-screen survival gameplay
- absurd and memorable premise
- simple controls and immediate readability
- designed for quick browser sessions

USP A grotesque-comic clash between classical music and arcade chaos.

CURRENT VERTICAL SLICE

The current vertical slice already includes:

- onboarding through title screen instructions
- a complete gameplay loop with win and lose states
- final UI elements: HUD, pause, win and lose screens
- animated characters, pickups and environmental props
- a playable browser build published online

Link to the itch.io page

CORE MECHANICS AND GAME LOOP

CORE LOOP

Main mechanics

- move in four directions
- shoot musical projectiles
- defeat incoming enemy waves
- collect temporary rapid-fire power-ups
- collect extra-life pickups
- survive long enough to reach the target score

ART DIRECTION AND TECHNOLOGY

Art direction

- retro low-resolution pixel art
- grotesque-comic enemy design
- classical references through Mozart and stage props
- clear silhouettes for readable gameplay

Technology

- developed in PICO-8
- exported as HTML for browser play
- published through itch.io
- compact production scope focused on polish and iteration

ABOUT THE DEVELOPER

The Scatological Sonata is a fully solo-developed project. I was responsible for the entire production process, including game design, programming, visual art, UI implementation, audio direction and overall vertical slice development. The project reflects a compact but complete creative vision, built to deliver a polished and memorable arcade experience.

ROADMAP

NEXT STEPS

final audio pass: music and sound effects additional feedback and juice
difficulty balancing final itch.io page polish expanded content for a complete version

LONG TERM

more enemy variety additional levels or encounters
more power-ups and score systems stronger audiovisual presentation

CALL TO ACTION

The Scatological Sonata offers:

- a memorable and humorous core concept
- fast and readable browser gameplay
- a compact vertical slice ready for iteration

We are looking for:

- feedback on the current vertical slice
- publishing and visibility opportunities
- support to expand the project toward a full release

! THANK YOU FOR YOUR TIME!